Hi everyone,

I want to discuss a topic I've had on my mind for a long time; when you come across someone who has a different take on hunting (our lifestyle) don't be confrontational. Be polite and explain to them that our hunting dollars go to promote conservation. We (as a community) don't just talk about it – we live it. Corbett cleanup, lake clean ups, planting vegetation and all the other numerous projects we do. We are in the vast minority so anytime we present our mission it is important! Also, when fellow hunters are different from us, don't argue – dog hunters, buggy hunters, airboat hunters, still-hunt hunters – we are all hunters, and we need to band together.

Hope you all had luck getting gator tags. Be safe and good luck.

Youth hunts will be starting – python is in 2 weeks. Sign your kids up, it's a great opportunity.

President
